

In Collaboration with Bhutan's Royal Society for the Protection of Nature and International Crane Foundation, Paradiso Ubud is proud to present:

BHUTAN: THE KIND KINGDOM

www.peterprince.com

Take flight with the mythical Black Necked Crane over the mighty Himalayas and into the tiny Kingdom of Bhutan. A land the world has called, "The Last Shangri-La." Journey to the cloud kingdom's 17th century fortress monasteries (Dzongs), and discover its artistry, dance, music, unmatched natural beauty and ancient spiritual beliefs. Learn why this peaceful nation of Buddhists believes in "Gross National Happiness" and what inspires them to teach their children that conservation comes first. Join Canadian filmmaker, musician and devoted Craniac, Peter Prince, as he shares a story of cultural adaptation and celebration, where global influences challenge Bhutanese farmers and their traditional way of life. At stake are pristine alpine meadows: the magnificent wetland habitat of the endangered Black Necked Crane.
